PAPIER MACHE AND CARTON PIERRE ENRICHMENTS MANUFACTORY
49 & 50, RATHBONE-PLACE.

GEORGE JACKSON and SONS beg the attention of Architects, Builders, Decorators, and others, to their large assortment of ENRICHMENTS in every style, executed in the highest class of art.—Enrichments for ceilings of every period, elaborate or simple, Gothic, Elizabethan, pendentive or flat, Louis XIV. in much variety, and to any degree of cost; Italian and Greek, Renaissance, and many modified characters, executed for the first houses, and from designs of architects of the highest eminence; wall drawings, rich panels of every period, 16th Elizabethan and Gothic Doors, in many designs. Door-caps, mouldings, and drawings.

A large assortment of Gothic Beams to many varied intersections of all class, tracery and panel bearings for church works, organ drawings, of most periods, and faithfully executed to the traits of each.

The general decorations of Drawing and Dining Rooms, Libraries, &c., of very considerable extent, as furniture, glass frames, tables, window cornices, screens, candelabra, and the whole range of accommodations in Reception Rooms of the first class, as well as more subdued.

The facilities and repeated enlargement of means enable GEORGE JACKSON and SONS to announce the execution of works of the above descriptions in these advantageous materials at a cost considerably below any known method, while for quality, relief, and finish, they flatter themselves they stand unrivalled.

WORKS ON ARCHITECTURE, ARCHÆOLOGY, &c.
PUBLISHED BY JOHN HENRY PARKER,
OXFORD; AND LONDON.

A GLOSSARY of TERMS used in Grecian, Roman, Italian, and Gothic Architecture. In this edition the greater part of Professor Willis's "Architectural Nomenclature of the Middle Ages" is incorporated; the terms of Mediæval Carpentry are introduced; with numerous additional examples of Open Timber Roofs, also of Tile Pavements, &c. &c. The synonymous words in French, Italian, and German are all given. The fifth edition, 2 vols. 8vo. with 1,700 woodcuts, 2l. 2s.

AN INTRODUCTION to the STUDY of GOTHIC ARCHITECTURE. By JOHN HENRY PARKER, F.S.A. 16mo. with woodcuts, 4s. 6d.

RICKMAN'S GOTHIC ARCHITECTURE: AN ATTEMPT TO DISCRIMINATE the DIFFERENT STYLES of ARCHITECTURE in ENGLAND. By the late THOMAS RICKMAN, F.S.A. With Thirty Engravings on Steel by Le Keux, &c., and 68 on Wood, of the best examples, from Original Drawings by F. Mackenzie, O. Jewitt, and P. H. de la Motte. Fifth edition. 8vo. 21s.

"The majority of the illustrations are from original drawings, executed expressly for the purpose and have the disastrous effect of rendering all former editions of the work comparatively worthless. Those who have Rickman, equally with those who have not, must buy the present edition. The illustrations are clear, precise, sparkling; and we commend the work as absolutely necessary for every architectural student."—The Builder.

THE ECCLESIASTICAL and ARCHITECTURAL TOPOGRAPHY of ENGLAND. Diocese of Oxford—Berkshire, Buckinghamshire, and Oxfordshire. 8vo., cloth, 7s. 6d. Bedfordshire and Huntingdon, 2s. 6d. each. Cambridgeshire, in preparation.

SOME ACCOUNT of DOMESTIC ARCHITECTURE in ENGLAND, from the Norman Conquest to the end of the Thirteenth Century, chiefly from Contemporary Documents. By T. HUDSON TURNER. In one thick volume, 8vo. With numerous Engravings of existing Remains, from original Drawings. 21s.

OFFICIAL DESCRIPTIVE AND ILLUSTRATED CATALOGUE
OF THE
GREAT EXHIBITION OF THE WORKS OF INDUSTRY OF ALL NATIONS, 1851.

"A complete literary type of the original to which it refers, opening up sources of amusement or instruction to every class of taste, and proving equally at home on the drawing-room table, handled by fashionable dilettanti in the study, pored over by the scholar or the man of science, at the merchant's desk as a book of constant reference—in the factory, the foundry, and the workshop, as a repertoire for designs, and as highly suggestive for future progress. A more pleasant work to dive into during an idle hour can hardly be imagined, for wherever it is taken up there is something new and striking, and worthy of attention."—Times.

"The work is without a precedent in the annals of literature; and when we recall the circumstances of difficulty that surrounded the task of its execution, the praise bestowed on those who undertook it can scarcely be too great. The Contractors, in that enlarged spirit which appears to have entered into all that belongs to the Exhibition, engaged men of reputation and authority in every department of science and manufacture to contribute such descriptive notes as should render the work eminently instructive. It thus contains a body of annotations which express the condition of human knowledge and the state of the world's industry in 1851; and is a document of the utmost importance, as a summary report of this vast international 'stock-taking,' which no great library, nor any gentleman's library, of those who aim at the collection of literary standards—can hereafter be without. It is not a work of a day, a month, or a year; it is for all time. Centuries hence it will be referred to as authority on the condition to which man had arrived at the period of its publication. It is at once a great Trades Directory, informing us where we are to seek for any particular kind of manufacture—a Natural History, recording the localities of almost every variety of natural production—and a Cyclopædia, describing how far science has ministered to the necessities of humanity, by what efforts the crude products of the earth have been converted into articles of utility or made the medium of that refined expression which belongs to the province of creative art. The Exhibition has lived its allotted time, and died; but this Catalogue is the sum of the thoughts and truths which it has given birth,—and which form the intellectual ground whereon the generations that we are not to see must build. * * * It will be evident from what has been already stated that a more important contribution to a commercial country than the 'Official Descriptive and Illustrated Catalogue of the Great Exhibition' could scarcely have been offered. * * * All possible means have been taken to render it worthy of the wonderful gathering of which it is the permanent record."—Athenæum.
